Stuart A. Bremer Award for Best Graduate Student Paper

At this year’s meeting, the Peace Science Society will introduce a new award in memory of Stuart A. Bremer. Professor Bremer was very active in fostering graduate student research and involvement in the Society. This award was created in the spirit of Stuart’s enthusiasm for graduate student research.

The Stuart A. Bremer Award is presented to the author or authors of the best graduate student paper delivered at each year’s Peace Science Society meeting. Papers eligible for consideration include those associated with poster presentations made at the meeting as well as those presented at the meeting’s regular sessions. Co-authored papers may be considered for the award, but only if all of the authors are graduate students at the time of the meeting.

The author or authors of the winning paper receives travel support of $1000 to present the paper at the following year’s European Peace Science meeting. The 2005 meeting will be held June 27 - 29 at the Jan Tinbergen Institute in Amsterdam. The award amount is for the paper: in instances of multiple authors, the allocation of the $1000 travel support will be determined by the authors.

The winner will be selected on the basis of the paper’s potential scientific significance and its contribution to the study of peace science. An ad hoc three-person committee consisting of members of the Society will determine the winner.

Nomination must be made by one of the authors of the paper. For consideration, papers must be sent electronically (and preferably as a pdf file) to Glenn Palmer (gpalmer@psu.edu) by December 1, 2004.

The winning paper will be announced in January, 2005.

2005 Founders’ Medal

At the 2000 meeting of the Society it was decided to establish the Founders’ Medal, an award intended to recognize an individual who has made significant and distinguished life-long scientific contributions to peace science. The first Founders’ Medal was presented to J. David Singer of the University of Michigan in 2001. The next award will be given in 2005. Recipients must be at least 50 years of age and either current or past members of the Society. The selection committee consists of the Councilors of the Peace Science Society. Information about the nomination process for the award will appear on the Society’s Web page.

The PSS Web site gives information about the Society and its activities, including past and upcoming conferences.

The Peace Science Society

The Peace Science Society operates as an objective, scientific organization without political, social, financial or national bias. Its objectives are to foster the exchange of ideas and promote studies focusing on issues of peace and conflict utilizing tools, methods and theoretical frameworks drawn from the social and natural sciences, law, engineering, and other disciplines and professions. A primary concern of the Society is the improvement of social science theory as it relates to world politics. Membership in the Peace Science Society is open to all individuals.
