

The following has been a paid advertisement of the friends of The School of the Realm.

The School of the Realm

Where identities develop through the interaction of planned
and emergent learning♦

- If you want more than competencies that relate to a specific practice
- If you want transformative experiences of participation that open new negotiations of self
- If you enjoy having engaging conversations – blogging or face-to-face-
- At the Realm school we believe that instruction does not cause learning, it creates a context in which learning takes place.
- It is by participating in a community that we learn and it is through that learning that our identity and meaning are constructed
- Creating environments where all people are encouraged to reach their full potential

SPACES AVAILABLE K-20!!

Contact us today at experience@isvaluable.all

Disclaimer: The enrollment of your child binds you to interact with you child in a meaningful way every day.

(All the info can be attributed to E. Wenger)