Educational Technology and Online Learning Resources at PSU

by B. Pursel (bkp10@psu.edu), Schreyer Institute for Teaching Excellence

This handout contains resources related to teaching with technology and online learning at Penn State.

Education Technology Services (ETS) – ETS offers a wide variety of services in the form of technology platforms, consultations and occasionally funding. Services include:

- Sites (http://sites.psu.edu)
- Blogs @ PSU (http://blogs.psu.edu)
- Yammer (http://www.yammer.com/psu.edu/)
- Media Commons (http://mediacommons.psu.edu/)
- ANGEL (http://cms.psu.edu)
- Educational Gaming Commons (http://gaming.psu.edu)
- Faculty Fellows (http://tlt.its.psu.edu/faculty)
- iTunes University (https://itunes.psu.edu/)
- VoiceThread, an audio tool for online discussions (http://voicethread.psu.edu/)

Teaching and Learning with Technology (TLT) - ETS is part of Teaching and Learning with Technology (TLT). TLT also provides many different services (http://tlt.its.psu.edu/) that include:

- Instructional/awareness videos (http://tlt.its.psu.edu/about/video)
- Technology Training, both face-to-face and online (http://its.psu.edu/training/)
- Weblion, which is a custom web development shop (http://weblion.psu.edu/)

The World Campus (http://www.worldcampus.psu.edu/) – Penn State's World Campus is the primary delivery mechanism for online learning at PSU, and also offers faculty development workshops.

Emerging Technologies (ET) – ET currently maintains the University's Wiki platform, wikispaces.

- Wikispaces (https://wikispaces.psu.edu/)

College-level elearning and support units – several Colleges have units dedicated to online or blended learning, and will often assist faculty and graduate students to integrate technology into the classroom. These units include:

- Agricultural Sciences (http://agsci.psu.edu/elearning)
- Arts and Architecture (https://elearning.psu.edu/elearning/)
- Earth and Mineral Sciences (https://www.e-education.psu.edu/)
- Engineering (http://www.engr.psu.edu/leonhardcenter/)
- Information Sciences and Technology (https://collab.ist.psu.edu/oidi/)
- Smeal College of Business (http://riit.smeal.psu.edu/)

Examples of Technology Use – The Schreyer Institute maintains a page on their blog, identifying several examples of technology use for learning across Penn State.
