

2008 African American Read-In
at Penn State Altoona
Featured Author

Faith Adiele

Award-winning author of Meeting Faith: The Forest
Journals of a Black Buddhist Nun

Reading

Monday, Feb. 4th

Sleep Lounge, free

5:00 PM: roots music duo

The JiveBombers

(Richard Sleigh and Jerry Zolten)

playing traditional African American blues, swing, and R&B.

5:30 PM: reading, followed by book signing
Free and open to the public

Faith Adiele's reading is sponsored by Penn State University's Africana Research Center as a feature of the initiative In Pursuit of Social Justice: Recognizing PA Black Artists

The African American Read-In at Penn State Altoona is sponsored by the Blair County NAACP, and the following offices and programs of Penn State Altoona: Dr. Lori Bechtel, Chancellor; the Division of Arts & Humanities, the Letters, Arts & Sciences Program, the Office of Student Affairs, the Office of Institutional Equity and Diversity, and the Honors Program.

contact: mbs12@psu.edu