

The Graduate School is committed to supporting the success of all graduate students at Penn State

The Graduate School:

- Helps students resolve problems that arise with their advisers, programs or others in a fair and equitable manner.
- Connects students with resources needed to ensure their success from counseling services to disability services to emergency funds.
- Recognizes that each student is a unique individual and works with students to address issues in a manner that meets their specific needs.
- Promotes best practices and raises awareness of and advances national thinking on graduate education, including effective mentoring practices among the graduate faculty.
- Has the flexibility to advocate for students while respecting their privacy and rights.
- Houses an ombudsperson dedicated to the needs of graduate students.
- Advocates for and supports competitive stipends and affordable health benefits in the face of rising costs and decreasing state support.
