MESSAGE FROM OUR NEW DIRECTOR

What a wonderful time for me to become the new director of OLLI at Penn State York! We recently completed a celebratory 10th anniversary year and our members consistently say how enriching they find the courses and tours. My transition in this position has been amazing, with OLLI members, Penn State York staff and faculty, my colleagues at University Park and Ann Krepps welcoming me and showing me the ropes.

I look forward to continuing to learn about OLLI at Penn State York as well as gain insight from the directors at the 121 other OLLIs throughout the country. OLLI at York has a strategic plan that will help direct my decisions, and I hope to implement some unique ideas to complement the plan.

The greatest surprise as OLLI director has been the dedication of our volunteers. OLLI is mostly volunteer-driven, but I have worked in other organizations that state the same. OLLI at Penn State York is truly driven by volunteers! I am so fortunate to have the support of volunteers who assist with course curriculum, social events, marketing, development and much more. If you are not a volunteer, please consider any volunteer contribution that you are able to make. It is a rewarding experience and your time is needed and appreciated.

If I haven’t already met you, please stop by the OLLI office during your next trip to Penn State York and introduce yourself. Thank you, again, for the warm welcome. I look forward to working with all of you!

Cordially,
Jennifer Geubtner-May

ABOUT OLLI

For adults who never stop experiencing life, there is a place and a community that celebrates learning in a relaxed and accepting environment. We invite you to join us in a learning adventure through the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Penn State York (OLLI at Penn State York). OLLI is open to all adults who love to learn.

Founders of The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) at Penn State York
Through the efforts of three like-minded women (clockwise from left, the late Charmaine Kissinger, Olive Padden and the late Gussie Petron) and several other volunteers, the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) initiated an association with Penn State York. In 2007, a nonprofit, mostly volunteer-driven organization was established to enrich the lives of mature adults living in York County by providing a variety of educational and social activities. Courses began in April 2008.

Where do OLLI at Penn State York activities take place?

CHOOSING A FINANCIAL CAREGIVER
As people age, they almost always need some help managing their financial affairs and typically that need increases over time. Senior citizens often encounter physical challenges—such as failing eyesight and diminished mental acuity. As their spouses, partners, or close friends die, they may also assume sole responsibility for their financial affairs in an era when electronic transactions and record keeping are increasingly the norm. Choosing a financial caregiver is often the best approach, but it’s not easy to know whom to choose or how much authority to grant. It’s essential to choose a caregiver who respects your wishes, will always act in your best interest, and has the experience to handle the tasks involved. A trusted banker can help facilitate this transfer of responsibility by helping seniors select a responsible caregiver.

Objectives of this presentation:

We don’t ask for proof of need and we won’t ask any questions. Just ask, we want to see you in class!

TALK TO JEN MAY OR A LEADERSHIP COMMITTEE CHAIR ABOUT THESE GREAT VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES.

Volunteering with OLLI is a win-win! We operate at our best with members that volunteer and members that volunteer gain friendships and help advance OLLI’s mission.
SPREAD THE WORD ABOUT OLLI!

One of the recurring comments we hear is that people in York don’t know about OLLI. We welcome the opportunity to speak to your church, club, professional organization, or informal group about OLLI at Penn State York. We will cater the presentation to your needs and share our most recent catalog. Contact the office if you are interested in having us speak to your group, 717-771-4015.
