

What is the common good, and should we always promote it?

MARCH 27, 2018 | 7:00 P.M.

Foster Auditorium, 102 Paterno Library

PARTICIPANTS

Brendan Bernicker, '19 PF Philosophy and Political Science

Jeremy Engels, Associate Professor, Communication Arts and Sciences

Michele Kennerly, Assistant Professor, Communication Arts and Sciences, and Classics and Ancient Mediterranean Studies

Emily Kohlman, '18 PF Russian and Journalism

Jonathan Marks, Associate Professor, Bioethics, Humanities, and Law, and Philosophy

Mark Sentesy, Assistant Professor, Philosophy, and Classics and Ancient Mediterranean Studies

Daniel Zahn, '20 English, Philosophy, and Communication Arts and Sciences

Christopher Moore, Assistant Professor, Philosophy, and Classics and Ancient Mediterranean Studies

MODERATED BY

Audience members will vote on their position by smartphone before, during, and after the discussion.

Free and Open to the Public

All are invited to stay for a reception in Mann Assembly Room immediately following the presentation.

PennState

Co-sponsored by the College of the Liberal Arts, Rock Ethics Institute, and University Libraries.