TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE

Applicable Law - All horses are offered according to the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. There are no warranties or guarantees implied as to the fitness for any particular purpose(s) of any horse offered in this sale. Every effort will be made to give complete disclosure of all known negative health and behavioral factors on all horses in the sale. However, no agent of The Pennsylvania State University can or shall be considered responsible for any oversight of a fault. Any desired veterinary examinations are to be conducted prior to sale day at the buyer's expense, and by appointment only. There are no guarantees whatsoever regarding future "breedability." All horses are sold "caveat emptor" (buyer beware)! All sales are final. All sales are absolute.

Public Inspection – Penn State horses are available for public inspection prior to April 29 by appointment only. All horses will be available for inspection in the Holding Barns next to the Ag Arena on Friday, April 28 between 3:00 pm and 7:00 pm and prior to the sale on Saturday, April 29. As our primary mission is education, and disruption of classes and laboratories is detrimental, we respectfully request that inspection of Penn State's sale horses be confined to pre-arranged dates and times.

Bidding Procedure - Highest bidder shall sign an Acknowledgment of Purchase. Absentee bids must have payment method approved prior to the sale. The Pennsylvania State University will decline any bids made by parties who have defaulted on former purchases, or persons who in their sole judgment are not responsible bidders, and the Event Organizers' decision shall be final.

Bidding Disputes - Should any dispute arise among bidders, the auctioneer shall adjudicate the dispute and his decision shall be final and absolute.

Taking Possession - The purchaser, at the gavel fall, assumes all risk and responsibility for the horse. Horses will be available for pick up immediately following the completion of the sale; however, Penn State horses will be kept (at the owner's risk) until Sunday, April 30, 2017, if necessary. We will make every attempt to accommodate buyers needing to make other arrangements. To take possession, a stable release form will be required. During the stay of Penn State horses, students and staff shall continue to provide all normal care.

Payment - Purchaser must make payment by cash, cashier's check or personal check immediately after the sale, at which time a stable release form for the horse shall be given. On purchases by personal check, title and/or registration papers shall be held until funds clear the bank, at which time they shall be mailed to the new owner. Horses purchased by cash or cashier's check shall have their title and/or registration papers transferred at the time of payment. Purchaser may not stop payment on a check given in payment for a horse for any reason.

Public Liability - Neither The Pennsylvania State University, its employees, officers, or agents assume any responsibility for any injury, death, or damage to a person or animal of any kind. For liability reasons, horses may only be handled and ridden by faculty, staff, and students in the PSU programs. Examine horses at your own risk. The public is cautioned to be extremely careful while on the grounds examining horses. Do not enter stalls or paddocks unattended under any conditions. A student or staff member will be happy to assist you in viewing the horses.

Auctioneer- Mr. Ben Nolt, Grantville, PA

Ben Nolt has been a licensed and bonded Pennsylvania auctioneer since 1982 and has conducted auctions of all kinds throughout the United States. Classes in Equine Science

The Penn State Equine Science Showcase and Quarter Horse Sale are proudly brought to you through the joint efforts of the Equine Marketing class and the Horse Handling and Training class, both under the instruction of Mr. Brian Egan. Through these classes, students gain knowledge, valuable hands-on experience, and the opportunity to interact with a variety of members of the equine industry.

In the Equine Marketing class, students have the opportunity to work together to organize a large university-wide event. This is accomplished by teaming up with past class members and forming various committees to facilitate all the planning and preparing for the day's proceedings. Each committee is given specific responsibilities to accomplish, which fall mainly under advertising, sale operations, working with outside breeders, horse preparation, and facility preparations. Tasks include everything from setting up the arena on sale day to designing sale flyers. Along with this planning, many guest speakers are invited into the classroom throughout the semester to discuss relevant topics including effective advertising techniques, proper presentation of sale horses, ethical sale practices, and professionalism.

While the Equine Marketing class was planning and preparing for the sale itself, the Horse Handling and Training class was busy preparing the majority of the horses that are in the sale today. Under the guidance and instruction of Brian Egan, farm manager Ed Jdrzejewski, and assistant farm manager Chris Grant, the students worked with the two year olds to teach them ground manners, leading in hand, lunging, round-penning techniques, and breaking them under saddle preparing them for today's event. However, please keep in mind that the two year olds are no more than "green broke" at this time. The training class was composed of students with all levels of horse experience ranging from those who have grown up around horses to those who found working with young horses to be a new and challenging experience.

Today's sale was made possible by the hard work and success of these classes. This was a unique learning experience for each and every student involved by allowing them to learn through a real-world event, not just in the classroom. Through these classes, students were able to actively participate in the sale process from beginning to end, acquire experience that they will be able to use after college, and network with industry professionals.

We look forward to a safe and successful sale. Thank you for your continued support!

Penn State Sale Horses Implanted with Micro-Chip

The Penn State owned American Quarter Horses that are being sold today, April 29, 2017, have been implanted with a RFID Micro-chip in the nuchal ligament halfway between the poll and withers on the left hand side of the horse's neck. The implantation site is approximately 2 inches below the mane line.

The micro-chips should in no way affect the usefulness of the horses. They will however, make it possible to positively identify the horses in the case of a natural emergency, theft, or during a disease outbreak. If you have any questions about the micro-chips or how they may affect a horse you are considering purchasing at the sale, please ask us ahead of time.

Welcome to the 2017 Penn State Equine Science Showcase and Quarter Horse Sale! We are excited to have you here to join us in our 15th Annual Sale.

We hope that you enjoy your day exploring the various activities that this event has to offer, including the barn tours, silent auction, and of course, the horse sale.

We are so proud of the work that has been completed by the students through their various roles as committee chairs and committee members. They have worked tirelessly over the past semester to make today a success. As well, they have committed to ensuring the success of the sale by putting forth their efforts towards organizing the facility, readying the horses, giving the farm tours, preparing delicious food, and live streaming the sale.

We wanted to thank our assistant managers, Ms. Sydney Vogt and Ms. Katie Russell, for all of the hard work that they have put in and for their continuous support throughout the year. We would not have been able to do it without them. And finally we want to thank Brian Egan for his guidance and advice throughout the planning of this incredible event.

Thank you taking time out of your busy schedules to join us today and to learn more about the Equine Science Program and the Penn State Quarter Horses. We hope that you enjoy the day and the horses and that you have a wonderful time here at the sale.

PSU Dynamic Gray Sky is a 16.1 hand gray filly that was foaled on February 19, 2014. She is a large framed, well-made filly that is extremely laid back, with a great personality. Her self-carriage coupled with her ground-covering stride and slow legs make her an ideal Hunter Under Saddle prospect. As a weanling, this filly placed in the Top 5 Weanling Halter division at the PQHA Nittany Classic Futurity. With her disposition, movement and notable pedigree she will be a great addition to any show program. This filly was injured during the summer of her yearling year and instead of rushing her along we turned her out and let her heal until this spring. The injury seems to have been completely solved and she has shown no long lasting affects.

PSU Dynamic Impulse is a 15.1 hand bay gelding that was foaled on March 2, 2015. PSU Dynamic Impulse is an attractive gelding that will catch the eye of any judge in the show pen. He possesses a flat-kneed and soft-footed stride that will put him on the same level as the proven show horses. This gelding is a full brother to the 2013 Larry Little Futurity winner PSU Rockin Robin and many other successful show horses. This horse has a lot of great potential and willingness to learn. He was born with a congenital cataract of the lens in his right eye, not as a result of an injury or other disease such as recurrent uveitis. While he is mostly blind in his right eye, since he was born with the condition he seems to be very well adapted and it hasn't presented any issues as part of our program.

KEEP YOUR HORSE IN THE PICTURE.

Although not well-known, Leptospira interrogans serovar Pomona can cause devastating problems. L. pomona can colonize in the kidneys, be shed in the urine and the horse can become septicemic, which can potentially lead to abortion, uveitis and acute renal failure. LEPTO EQ INNOVATOR[®] is the first Leptospira vaccine developed specifically for horses to help prevent leptospirosis caused by L. pomona. It also helps prevent infections of the blood, which could, but has not been demonstrated to, help reduce the potential risk of equine recurrent uveitis, abortion or acute renal failure caused by L. pomona.¹ An efficacy trial demonstrated LEPTO EQ INNOVATOR safely helps prevent L. pomona infections and urinary shedding.¹ A safety trial showed it was 99.8% reaction-free.^{2,3} To learn more, visit LEPTOEQINNOVATOR.com.

*Currently, there are no vaccines available with USDA-licensed label claims against equine abortions, uveitis or acute renal failure due to L. pomona.
