Keynote Lecturer:

Angela Mariani-Smith, Texas Tech University

Call for Papers

SCRC welcomes 15- to 20-minute papers on all aspects of Renaissance studies (music, art history, history, literature, language, philosophy, science, religion, etc.) Trans-Atlantic, Trans-European, and interdisciplinary approaches are particularly welcome.

Submissions

To apply, submit two abstracts: 1) 400-500 words; and 2) about 100 words. Submit your abstracts through the abstract submission form at www.scrc.us.com.

Deadline: December 15, 2018

To propose a special session, email the program chair by October 31, 2018. Presenters for accepted panels must post abstracts by December 31.

Francisco de Zurbarán, La Visión de San Pedro Nolasco (1629)

An SCRC membership (purchasable online and on site) is required to attend. Papers cannot be read in absentia.

Graduate students who are presenting at the conference are encouraged to apply for a graduate travel fellowship ($400). Apply to the program chair by e-mail, attaching the complete text of a paper, by January 31, 2019.

Undergraduates must e-mail the complete text of their papers, with a faculty letter of recommendation, to the program chair by December 15, 2018.

We encourage speakers to submit developed versions of their papers to SCRC's fully refereed, independent scholarly journal, Explorations in Renaissance Culture.

Shorter papers (up to 3,000 words) are invited for submission to SCRC's online newsletter, Discoveries. (Visit these journals through the SCRC website.)

Information about submissions and local arrangements will be available on the SCRC website:
